Customer Accessibility

Overview

On July 26th, 1990, the President of the United States signed into law the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). The ADA is a civil rights law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of disability in employment and in public services, including public transportation and public accommodations. The intent of the law is to make all aspects of American society accessible to individuals with a disability. The ADA is an equal opportunity law for people with disabilities.

Section 12162(e) of the ADA requires that all stations in the intercity rail transportation system be made accessible to and usable by individuals with a disability. Amtrak is working hard to implement and pursue its ADA Stations Program to bring the stations it serves and for which it has ADA responsibility into compliance with ADA requirements in the most timely, integrated and efficient way possible. The U.S. Congress and Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) have directed that a portion of Amtrak's Northeast Corridor and National Network Grants be used to further the goals of the Program. This document outlines the tasks which Amtrak plans to accomplish from FY 2020–FY 2024.

Amtrak trains serve over 500 stations in 46 states, the District of Columbia and three Canadian provinces. There are 528 total stations in the Amtrak system, including 9 Canadian stations served. ADA responsibility for the various station components (i.e., structure, platform and parking) is being determined by Amtrak. Amtrak will ensure that the station components for which it has ADA responsibility are made ADA compliant. Ownership and responsibility are determined using a "separate component" approach. This approach involves splitting each station into three distinct components: station structure, platform, and parking. Each component is analyzed as a separate "station" for purposes of determining first, ownership and second, ADA responsibility.

1. Station stops at Carlsbad-Village, CA (CBV) and San Diego - Sorrento Valley, CA (SRB) were discontinued since last year's report.

*Stations where Amtrak has Sole ADA Responsibility

243
*Stations where Amtrak has Shared ADA Responsibility

129
*Stations where Amtrak has No ADA Responsibility

Determination of responsibility for ADA compliance of each station component is a two-step process. First, Amtrak determines ownership of each station component and applies the rules set forth in Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 37.49 which assigns ADA responsibility based on ownership. (For example, if more than 50% of a station component is owned by a public entity, then that public entity has 100% of the ADA responsibility for that component. If more than 50% of a station component is owned by a private entity, then Amtrak and the commuter railroads that serve that station have 100% of the ADA responsibility for that component; responsibility amongst the railroads is proportional based on passenger boardings.) Next, Amtrak reviews its agreements with third parties (e.g., landlords, tenants, freight railroads) to determine if there are any contractual terms that require such third parties to ensure ADA compliance of the station components.

As of June 28, 2019[2], ADA responsibility for the 516 stations required to meet the ADA accessibility requirements is detailed at left. Amtrak has either sole or shared ADA responsibility at 387 stations; these 387 stations are included in the ADA Stations Program.

The Amtrak Station in Lincoln, IL has an ADA accessible platform.

2. This breakdown may change as property surveys are completed, locations and services change, and new information is produced. Changes since last year's report: Berlin, CT (BER), Meriden, CT (MDN), and North Charleston, SC (CHS) changed from shared responsibility to no responsibility stations; Bellows Falls, VT (BLF) and Fullerton, CA (FUL) changed from no responsibility to shared responsibility stations; Ashland, VA (ASD) and Windsor, CT (WND) changed from shared responsibility to sole responsibility stations; Lawrence, KS (LRC) changed from sole responsibility to shared responsibly station; Hazlehurst, MS (HAZ), McComb, MS (MCB), and Newbern-Dyersburg, TN (NBN) were converted to standard stops and added to the shared responsibility stations; Fulton, KY (FTN) and Yazoo City, MS (YAZ) were converted to standard stops and added to the sole responsibility stations.

Historical Performance

Amtrak initiated the ADA Stations Program in 2009 as a comprehensive program to make its stations ADA compliant and accessible. From 2009 through the end of Fiscal Year 2018, Amtrak has installed 192 station based mobile lifts, constructed new low level platforms with compliant detectable warnings at 31 stations, constructed new level boarding platforms with compliant detectable warnings at 2 stations, installed new detectable warnings on existing platforms at an additional 38 stations, made accessible parking improvements at 132 stations, made accessible restroom improvements at 49 stations, installed accessible station signage at 206 stations, installed Passenger Information Display Systems (PIDS) at 32 stations, and made numerous other ADA improvements at stations across the country.

The chart below reflects the stations that have been completed to date and the stations to be completed by the end of this five-year strategic plan period (FY 2020 through FY 2024).

ADA PROGRAM: STATIONS COMPLETED/PLANNED
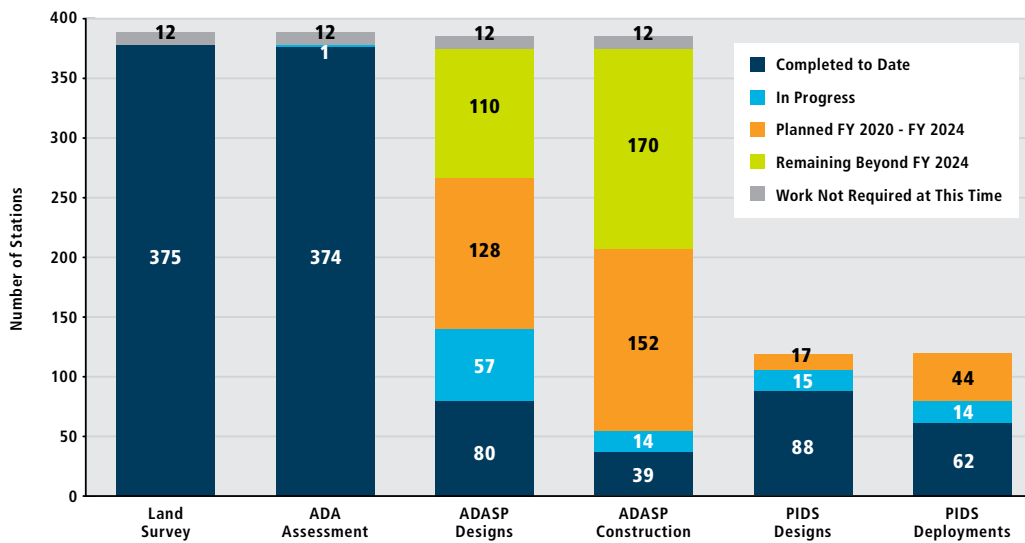

Note: As of the date of this report, there are 12 stations in the ADA Stations Program that Amtrak has determined do not currently require work for various reasons, including but not limited to, an ongoing third-party project, and/or a new station. As new information comes to light and/or circumstances change it may be determined that work is required for one of these stations.

Goals and Objectives

The goal and objective of the ADA Stations Program is to bring all stations served by Amtrak, for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility, into compliance with the ADA. To accomplish this goal, Amtrak, in coordination with the FRA, has developed the ADA priorities and work necessary to bring stations with existing accessibility deficiencies into compliance with the ADA.

The five-year strategic plan will be used to bring stations with known or potential accessibility deficiencies in certain key areas into compliance with the ADA within the five-year planned period. Stations that are listed as the highest priority include: 1) stations with known or potential train access deficiencies, 2) stations with known or potential Passenger Information Display Systems (PIDS) deficiencies, and 3) stations with known or potential station access and/or key amenity deficiencies.

Additional priorities and initiatives include adding level boarding platforms, where required by law, and pursuing more integrated boarding solutions (based on Amtrak's Platform Design Policy) where level boarding is not required by law due to the presence of existing freight traffic adjacent to the platform. Platform projects, which may include level boarding platform projects and low-level platform projects, will be funded after priorities one (1) through three (3) listed previously have been funded and advanced to the greatest extent possible and as remaining budget is available.

At this point in the Program, all stations identified in the top three priorities have either been completed or are being actively advanced. Much of the work that remains to be completed includes platform improvements. These remaining platform projects are being advanced strategically based on geographic proximity to other projects and on the labor support capabilities of host railroads.

1. Addressing stations with known or potential train access deficiencies[3] (priority).

Amtrak has identified twenty-four (24) stations in its national system for which Amtrak had ADA responsibility for the platform with known or potential significant platform and/or path of travel deficiencies. These stations are not accessible to persons who use wheeled mobility devices and such persons may have significant difficulties when attempting to board/de-board a train at these stations.

By the end of fiscal year 2023, Amtrak plans to eliminate such train access deficiencies at 23 of the 24 stations where Amtrak has ADA responsibility. (Philadelphia-North, PA is being investigated for inclusion into the ADA Stations Program). See Appendix C for a list of stations.

2. Addressing stations with known or potential PIDS deficiencies (priority).

Amtrak has identified 120 stations in its national system for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility for PIDS with known or potential PIDS deficiencies. Amtrak had previously identified 80 stations with known or potential PIDS deficiencies. This list includes additional stations that have been identified as well as state supported projects where Amtrak has installed PIDS. A number of these stations have an audible public address (PA) system but do not have a visual messaging component that communicates the audible information. In addition, there are stations with legacy PIDS that have both PA and electronic signage but are not ADA compliant because there is no visual message functionality that would enable synchronized dual-mode announcements.

By the end of fiscal year 2022, Amtrak plans to eliminate all such known or potential PIDS deficiencies at stations for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility. See Appendix C for a list of stations.

3. At the start of the program through the fall of 2013 the ADA Stations Program used an assessment tool that was based on 1991 ADA Accessibility Guidelines (ADAAG). Stations that were assessed using this tool and have yet to be designed will be reevaluated during design phase using the new tool that is based on the 2006 Department of Transportation Accessibility Standards (DOTAS).

3. Addressing stations with known or potential station access and/or key amenity deficiencies (priority).

Amtrak originally identified 47 stations in its national system for which Amtrak had ADA responsibility for the station building that have known or potential access (entrance/exit) deficiencies and/or deficiencies inside the station building with key amenities such as restrooms and ticket counters. See Appendix C for a list of stations.

4. Addressing stations that require level boarding once altered (priority).

Amtrak has identified 24 stations in the Amtrak system for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility for the platform where level boarding must be provided, following alteration, per the 2011 USDOT Level Boarding Rule (49 CFR Part 37).

As part of the five-year strategic plan, Amtrak plans to continue to advance level boarding at those stations where Amtrak has ADA responsibility for the platform.

5. Addressing stations that are candidates for more integrated boarding solutions (initiative).

As part of the Accessible Boarding Technologies Program, Amtrak designed and constructed a prototype design solution in Ann Arbor, MI that provides level boarding, while still maintaining freight railroads' clearance requirements. The design solution, referred to as the Shuttle Platform, has been in service since September 2015.

An analysis of the field test data was recently completed. Based on the findings, the Shuttle Platform has shown to benefit to all passengers by improving the customer experience and reduction in overall dwell time. However, one of the challenges of the Shuttle Platform has been the high monitoring and maintenance costs incurred.

The Shuttle Platform will be an option considered in the basis of design phase. If it is determined that a location is a candidate, then a site-specific analysis and business case will be developed and presented to the Amtrak Executive Oversight Committee for review and approval prior to proceeding with the design.

By the end of fiscal year 2019, Amtrak will have addressed all the station access and/or key amenity deficiencies identified at the 47 stations with known or potential station access and/or key amenity deficiencies.

> At this point, all stations identified in the top three priorities of the stations program have either been completed or are being actively advanced. As of the date of this report, Amtrak has completed all its ADA responsibility at a total of 39 stations.

Program Tasks

1. Surveys. Perform a property survey and/or conduct title and public record data searches, to document property lines and ownership of the station and surrounding area to assist in the determination of Amtrak's legal responsibilities under the ADA. Property ownership information is also used to determine who owns the property upon which improvements need to be constructed and from whom consent will be required.

2. ADA Assessments.[4] Perform a full ADA assessment of those portions of the station used by Amtrak passengers for which Amtrak has sole or shared responsibility. Deliverable for each station is an assessment report documenting ADA noncompliance and accessibility deficiencies found at each location. (Amtrak may also conduct ADA assessments of those portions of a station used by Amtrak passengers for which it does not have ADA responsibility, consistent with criteria established by Amtrak's ADA Executive Oversight Committee.)

3. Design. Perform design activities to address the non-compliant elements for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility, as identified in the ADA assessment. (In limited situations, Amtrak may also perform design activities for which third parties have ADA responsibility, consistent with criteria established by Amtrak's ADA Executive Oversight Committee.)

4. Regulatory Approvals. Distribute design documents to regulatory agencies, such as the State Historic Preservation Offices (SHPOs), to receive approval to proceed with improvements outlined in the design.

5. Procurement. Advertise issued for construction (IFC) design packages and solicit services from qualified contractors to perform the construction work identified in the design documents.

6. Construction. Perform construction necessary to ensure that non-compliant elements (for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility) are made ADA compliant. (In limited situations, Amtrak may also perform construction activities for which third parties have ADA responsibility, consistent with criteria established by Amtrak's ADA Executive Oversight Committee.)

7. Post-Construction Assessment. Perform assessment of those elements that were altered or constructed as part of the project to ensure that the elements are compliant with the ADA.

8. Deployment of PIDS. Integrated audio-visual messaging that includes train, boarding and general passenger information and emergency announcements at those stations for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility. In limited situations, Amtrak may also perform installation activities for which third parties have ADA responsibility, consistent with criteria established by Amtrak's ADA Executive Oversight Committee.

9. Accessible Boarding Technologies Program (ABT). Focusing on new compliant board/de-board solutions, make improvements to existing onboard ramps and station bridge plates. Design and construct setback modular platforms with integrated shuttle platform solution that provide a level boarding experience at stations with freight traffic adjacent to a platform.

4. At the start of the program through the fall of 2013 the ADA Stations Program used an assessment tool that was based on 1991 ADA Accessibility Guidelines (ADAAG). Stations that were assessed using this tool and have yet to be designed will be reevaluated during design phase using the new tool that is based on the 2006 Department of Transportation Accessibility Standards (DOTAS).

Implementation Schedule

The table below outlines the progress the Program has made to date and the tasks that will be performed each year of this five-year strategic plan. It should be noted that in previous years platform alterations that may have been required were deferred in some instances. As a result, some stations may require additional design and construction work to bring the platform(s) into compliance with the ADA.

As of the date of this report, there are 12 stations in the ADA Stations Program that Amtrak has determined do not currently require work for various reasons, including but not limited to, an ongoing third-party project, and/or a new station. As new information comes to light and/or circumstances change it may be determined that work is required for one of these stations.

Key Performance Metrics

The key performance metric that will be used to measure progress over the next five-years will be the number of stations with known or potential deficiencies that have been corrected for each of the top three priorities listed herein.

Out of the three hundred eighty-seven (387) stations where Amtrak has some type of ADA responsibility Amtrak has identified twenty-four (24) stations with known or potential train access deficiencies. Four (4) such stations have been completed to date. Amtrak has identified one hundred twenty (120) stations in its national system for which Amtrak has ADA responsibility for PIDS with known or potential PIDS deficiencies. Sixty-two (62) such stations have been completed to date. Out of the three hundred eighty-seven (387) stations where Amtrak has some type of ADA responsibility Amtrak has identified forty-seven (47) stations with known or potential station access and/or key amenity deficiencies. Forty-five (45) such stations have been completed to date.

Key performance metrics will be based on removing all the known or potential deficiencies for the top three priorities by the conclusion of the five-year strategic plan period. The table below outlines the percentage of stations in the top three priorities that will be advanced during each fiscal year of the five-year plan in order to reach the goals listed above.

Progress will also be measured based on the status of stations that are required to complete the multiple steps of the development process (i.e., property survey, ADA assessment, design, construction, post-construction assessment) and based on the number of stations at which Amtrak's ADA responsibility has been completed. As of the date of this report, Amtrak has completed all its ADA responsibility at a total of 39 stations.

KEY PERFORMANCE METRIC COMPLETION SCHEDULE

	Completed to Date	FY 2019	FY 2020	FY 2021	FY 2022	FY 2023	FY 2024
Train Access Deficiencies	17%	33%	79%	88%	88%	96%	96%
PIDS Deficiencies	52%	63%	74%	88%	100%
Station Access/Amenity Deficiencies	96%	100%

Amtrak opened a new ADA-compliant shelter at Dyer in the summer of 2014; it replaced a smaller aluminum and glass structure erected in 1986. In addition to the building, the station includes a concrete platform with tactile edging, accessible parking stalls, light standards and improved signage. Here the Cardinal is shown stopped at the station.

In summary, the key performance metrics to be reported during the plan implementation include:

- The percentage of stations (out of the total number of stations for which Amtrak has some type of ADA responsibility) at which Amtrak's ADA responsibility has been completed.

- The percentage of stations (out of the total number of stations with known or potential train access deficiencies) at which all passengers, including passengers with a disability, have access to board/alight from the train.

- The percentage of stations (out of the total number of stations with known or potential PIDS deficiencies) at which all passengers, including passengers with a disability, have access to accessible station and/or platform announcements.

- The percentage of stations (out of the total number of stations with known or potential station access/key amenity deficiencies) at which all passengers, including passengers with a disability, have access to the station buildings and key amenities offered at each station (restrooms, ticket counters, etc.).

- Number of level boarding platforms that are added to the system; priority No. 1, 48 inch above top of rail (ATR) platform stations (elimination of station based mobile lifts), priority No. 2, 15 inch ATR platforms.

- Number of re-designed bridge plates deployed; number of re-designed onboard ramps deployed.

A wheelchair lift is used to help a customer board the Missouri River Runner at the Kirkwood, MO Amtrak Station.

Summary

> In order to accomplish the goals and objectives outlined in this document, Amtrak has agreed to spend not less than $50 million of its capital funds on ADA improvements during each of the next five (5) years.

Amtrak's five-year strategic plan consists of: design and construction work at 212 unique stations, which includes 128 station designs, 17 PIDS designs, 152 construction projects, and 43 PIDS deployments.

Amtrak is the ADA responsible party for the platform and station structure at the Lancaster station.

Appendix C: Station Technology Products and Services

IT Service Offering	IT Service Descriptions
Cellular Service Signal/ Distributed Antenna System (DAS)	A mobile communication network where the last link is wireless. The network is distributed over land areas called cells, each served by at least one fixed-location transceiver, but more normally three cell sites or base transceiver stations. These base stations provide the cell with the network coverage which can be used for transmission of voice, data and others.
Digital Signage	A network-based signage system, helps to enhance the passenger experience in stations, facilitate companywide communications and training, and boost sales.
End-user Devices	An end-user device is a source or destination device in a networked system, that an end user (a person that the device is designed for) uses to connect to the network. Examples of end user device include computers (desktop or laptop), consumer device (e.g., smart phones, tablet), or removable storage media (e.g., USB flash drive, memory card, external hard drive, writeable CD or DVD) that can store information, and printers etc.
Building Automation (HVAC etc.)	Building automation is the automatic centralized control of a building's heating, ventilation and air conditioning, lighting and other systems through a building management system or building automation system.
Internet Access	Provides access to public internet.
Kiosk	An electronic kiosk (or computer kiosk or interactive kiosk) houses a computer terminal that often employs custom kiosk software designed to function while preventing users from accessing system functions.
Phones/ Telephony	The type of telephone network will be determined based on the location and complexity of the telephony requirements. There are 2 basic network choices: 1. Plain Old Telephone Service (POTS), which works by setting up a dedicated channel (or circuit) between two points for the duration of the call. These telephony systems are based on copper wires carrying analog voice data over the dedicated circuits. 2. Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP), which uses what is called packet-switched telephony. Using this system, the voice information travels to its destination in countless individual network packets across the Internet.
Physical Access Controls	Any mechanism or system that manages access through the authorization or revocation of rights to physical or logical assets within an organization.
PIDS	The Amtrak Passenger Information Display System (PIDS) provides integrated audio/visual messaging to customers at stations. This messaging takes the form of train information (arrival/departure times, gate/track assignments, boarding locations, stops and train status) and announcements (boarding announcements, passenger paging, general announcements and emergency messages, with exception of fire and life safety system messages). The system is comprised of electronic (variable messaging) signs and audio components that enable Amtrak to provide information in both visual and aural formats.

IT Service Offering	IT Service Descriptions
Public Address System	A public address system (PA system) is an electronic system comprising microphones, amplifiers, loudspeakers, and related equipment. It increases the apparent volume (loudness) of a human voice, musical instrument, or other acoustic sound source or recorded sound or music.
Radio (PTT)	Push-to-talk (PTT), also known as press-to-transmit, is a method of having conversations or talking on half-duplex communication lines, including two-way radio, using a momentary button to switch from voice reception mode to transmit mode.
Security - Surveillance	Physical Security software and hardware facilitates the capture, transmission, viewing, recording, archiving, and management of analogue and IP video sources and provides electronic access control.
Television	The receiving of television signals, including the sound channel, using digital encoding.
Terminals	A terminal is a device which ends a communications link and is the point at which a signal enters and/or leaves a network. Examples of equipment containing network terminations are telephones, fax machines, computer terminals and network devices, printers and workstations.
Ticketing Machines	Amtrak's QuikTrak machines are used for self-service ticket purchasing and printing at stations.
Video Conferencing	Videoconferencing (or video conference) means to conduct a conference between two or more participants at different sites by using computer networks to transmit audio and video data. For example, a point-to-point (two-person) video conferencing system works much like a video telephone.
Printers and Faxes	Needed for general printing and faxing. Also includes ticket printing.
Network Access (Wired or Wireless)	Provides access to Amtrak's internal network.
