

MINOT, ND

Nicknamed the Magic City, Minot is located on North Dakota's Drift Prairie, and offers a Midwestern setting known for its large arts community. The city can boast an art museum, a symphony orchestra, an opera company, several dance and theater troupes, and much more. Nearly 40% of the city's residents are of Scandinavian descent, and not only does the city have a Scandinavian Heritage Park, but every October, Minot hosts the Norsk Høstfest, North America's largest Scandinavian-American festival. The North Dakota State Fair is also held every summer in Minot.
