

ASHLAND STATION

In Ashland, VA, the rails run between the two central streets, which are lined with beautiful shade trees and a variety of historic homes, Randolph-Macon College and many small businesses. During the winter holidays, many of the houses are decorated with colorful lights that delight train passengers.

The town is a suburb of Richmond and home to the Strawberry Faire during June, which is the when strawberries are ripe for picking. The festivities include jazz and other concerts and performances, food, vendors, a children's pageant, and of course, strawberries.
